Gun Resigtration Law To Be Attempted Again

State Senator H. L. Richardson has come up with an interesting study on the anti-firearms cult.

He notes that several bills are already in the federal hopper that would all but eliminate private ownership of guns.

If passed, bills would: prohibit private ownership of firearms, except for police and military personnel; prohibit people under the influence of alcohol (.05) from having firearms with a $500-$1,000 fine for infractions. One bill requires a firearms identification card (FID) while another would require a 15-day waiting period for a FID card. Other bills would stop all newspaper advertising of firearms, stop mail orders on firearms and require people to sign for all transfer of firearms.

Another bill would regulate the sale of ammunition by which ammunition could only be sold to people with guns registered to them.

And finally, a bill would prohibit private ownership of handguns except for police, security guards, pistol clubs and collectors.

Do such bills have a chance for passage? You bet!

Back in 1968, according to Richardson, a public opinion poll showed that a sizeable number of Californians favored some kind of handgun control. A Santa Barbara man, Assemblyman Shoemaker, jumped on the poll bandwagon and introduced a bill calling for registration of firearms.

Prior to that, the assemblyman was viewed as an up-and-coming, bright star on the California horizon. Little did he know that he was of the falling variety. That was because he made a fatal miscalculation. Although many may be luke-warm to gun control, those who hunt or own firearms are rabid on the subject, according to Richardson. If the pun can be forgiven it can be reported that the velocity of their emotions developed magnum force!

Hunters, gun owners, pistol clubs, rifle associations and a consortium of outdoor enthusiasts from all over the state converged on Assemblyman Shoemaker's district. They practically surrounded his district with their outdoor recreational vehicles, and they zeroed their sights in on Election Day.

They walked precincts and handed out literature against him, while distributing literature for his opponent. Shoemaker was blasted out of his Assembly seat on Election Day, and the following morning, howitzer repercusslons were felt in the legislative halls when he was defeated.

When the story unraveled as to how Shoemaker was politically shot down by gun lovers, a "meaningful dialogue" was established with the remaining incumbents, according to Richardson.

The "register-all-guns" crowd could not get a single legislator to touch a firearm registration bill. For six years it was considered political dynamite.

But now the anti-gun crowd is at it again. Their organization is named the Coalition for Handgun Control and this year the legislation will be sponsored by Assemblyman Alan Sieroty of Beverly Hills.

Sieroty is no dreamy-eyed liberal; he is a hard-boiled, tough-minded Leftist who has been hip-deep in left causes all of his legislative career, according to Richardson.

He has been a high-level official in the American Civil Liberties Union — the notorious Leftist organization usually found at the center of Left-wing causes, busily defending members of the Communist party and fighting legislation sponsored by law enforcement groups.

Sieroty is the chairman of the Assembly Criminal Justice Committee, the same committee that stalled the death penalty bill for so long.

The anti-gun propagandizing for the new legislative program this year is the Coalition For Handgun Control.

The organization's membership reads like a Norman Thomas guest list or the occupants of the first ten rows on opening night of the Bolshoi Ballet. There are enough professional bleeding heart liberals on the letterhead, Richardson says, to supply plasma for all the wounded at Wounded Knee and both sides of Custer's last stand.

The movement to restrict America's ability to own firearms is national in scope and well organized. Radical leftists and their sympathizers are at it again and it will take a great effort on the part of the outdoorsmen to fight the latest infringement on his rights.

While the above material was being assembled, a reader, without knowing of the presentation, sent the following communication to U.S. Senator Phillip Hart, author of a bill that would outlaw handguns.

February 20, 1975

Senator Phillip Hart
U. S. Senate
Washington, D.C.
Dear Senator Hart:

Your bill for confiscation of all handguns, except for peace officers, is the best news I've had in sometime. I'm only sorry you excluded the peace officers.

I am in a rather hazardous business and the hazards will be greatly reduced if I can be assured that all honest citizens have been deprived of their handguns. I rarely deal with anyone but honest citizens, except by accident, and the odds of my success in business will be greatly improved if your bill is passed. Since I don't qualify as an honest citizen, I intend to keep my handgun.

Thank you so much Senator. It's nice to know you have my interest at heart. (or is it hart).

Your friendly neighborhood bandit,
(for obvious reasons I must remain anonymous)

P. S. I am thinking of taking in a partner in case you are interested.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES — Signs of many types and sizes, lining the Broadway shopping area in Lemon Grove, are the first targets of a new County sign ordinance enforcement team. Merchants unhappily face the prospect of ordered changes and licensing fees.

New Ordinance Starts in July

New Look For Lemon Grove Signs

Owners Face County Fines If Signs Do Not Conform

The "sign commission" of the San Diego County Planning Department gave the word to the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce Thursday at the Chamber's regular board of directors meeting.

The word is that non-conforming signs are going to come down and that notices are going out early in July instructing firms with one type of non-conformance of the decision.

The type to first come under the control of the commission is painted-on signs. Abatement date for these is September 6, 1975.

A sign ordinance was passed by the County Board of Supervisors last August. The ordinance will control all signs except billboards (separate ordinance). There are as many as 50,000 signs in the county one spokesman said.

Non-Conforming

In a very general way non-conforming signs are too big, too high or too many.

The county trio attending the board meeting to inform the directors of the activity included Bob Fritch, enforcement officer; Jim Chagala, special project officer and Ron Hansen, administration and permits.

Chagala said there would be up to five-years abatement period for some types of signs. First, the painted-on or wall signs must be brought into conformity. Then signs in commercial and industrial complexes have two years and all other signs must conform within five years.

Lemon Grove First

Bob Fritch said that Lemon Grove was the first area to be surveyed because signs had "proliferated" here. Still, he said, the first study shows that only 17% of all signs are non-conforming.

Fritz said that all new signs and signs that have been changed either for upgrading or conformity requirements, would require a license and the license fee would be collected every two years.

The cost depends on size, location and speed limit of the property it faces.

New signs, including those brought into conformance will require a payment of $5 a sign and 15 cents a square foot. Every two years they will be relicensed at the rate of $10 a sign and 10 cents a square foot.

A sign 80 x 20 feet would be billed at $16 plus $5.

Included in the computation for assessing costs is the distance from and the speed limit of the street the structure is on.

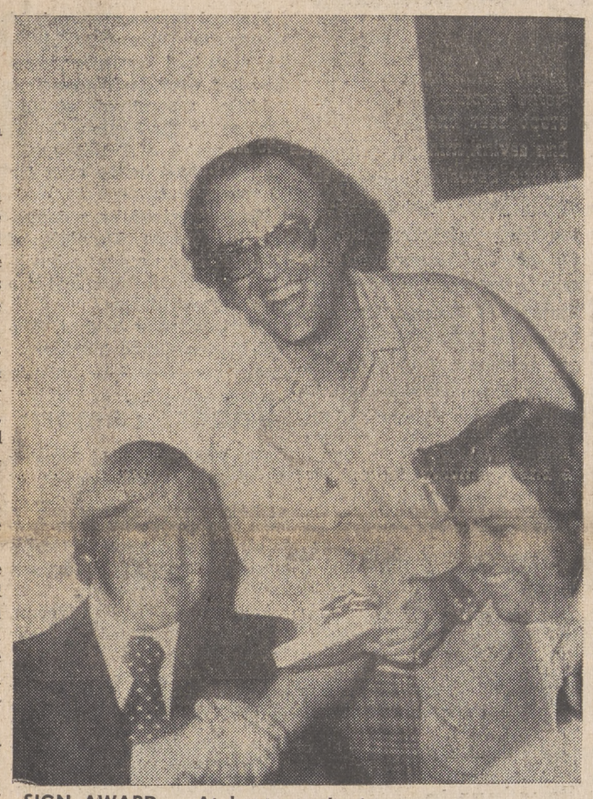
If a sign is replaced — even if made smaller — it would fall within the purview of the sign commission.

Present signs, if conforming, will not require a permit unless replaced, he said.

The sign ordinance is not popular. However, some of the directors at the meeting agreed that some sort of sign control was needed.

Some of the members presented the trio with a wrapped gift. It proved to be a king-sized lapel button which read "Shove it."

Following the inventory of Lemon Grove the commission now moves to Santee. But before it does, says Fritch, it will have recorded for conformance, prosecution or fee every one of the county's signs.



SIGN AWARD — At least one businessman gave his reaction to the new sign ordinance. Here Olin Thompson (standing) presents an award to Jim Chagala, sign project officer while sign administrator Ron Hansen looks on. The gift was a large lapel button. It read "Shove It . . ."

'Fine Police Work' Proves Undoing of Tire Theft Suspects

There's a good story of good detective work involved in the recovery of some new tires by members of the Sheriff's Lemon Grove office.

It goes like this:

Sheriff's deputies Ralph Render and John Sims were on patrol duty about 2 a.m. Friday during a heavy fog.

A pickup truck pulled out of Vista ave. and headed west on Broadway. The truck had a broken tail light. The officers trailed the truck to warn the occupants. The drivers put on speed and made a sharp turn north bound on Massachusetts ave., bouncing over the corner curb in their haste.

So the officers stopped them. The truck contained 13 new tires. The officers asked, "where did you get them?" "At a swap meet two or three weeks ago," was the reply according to the report. "How much did you pay for them?" was the next question. "$15 each," was the reply.

Several things came up odd in the replies. First, the tires were 7:00 x 15 and the truck had 16" wheels. No swap meets are open at 2 a.m. And new tires, even at swap meets sell for more than $15, the officers knew.

Wet Truck, Dry Tires

It took very little more investigation to note that the truck was wet from fog and dew, but the tires were dry. They had just been loaded.

A look at the hands of the occupants of the truck settled it — their hands had a black, grimy substance which comes from handling new tires. And all 13 tires were new, even carrying Gulf Oil tags that are put on new tires.

They arrested Robert William Miller, 18, of 7435 North ave., Lemon Grove and William Howard Trenkye, 29, of El Cajon, the two men in the truck.

Loser Found

Meanwhile, the officers radio'd for a deputy to find a Gulf station in the area that may have been burglarized. It only took one trip. The first station was that of Christa Laconaitzos' at 6901 Federal blvd.

A storage building's door had been forced open and tires were obviously missing. Investigation found a pile of 13 more tires behind the building. The tires were of the same size and with the same lot number of those in the pickup truck.

Back at the pickup truck officers found tools that had been used to force open the door of the storage building.

Miller and Trenkle will be arraigned in El Cajon Municipal Court.

Laconaitzos said "That was some mighty fine police work." His property had been recovered before he realized that it was lost.

Commy Machine Gun Draws Charge

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — A Campo woman and Lemon Grove man pleaded innocent Wednesday in Superior Court to a charge of illegal possession of a machine gun made in Communist China.

Gladys Starling, of Campo, and George Cota, of 7271 Beryl st., Lemon Grove, appeared before Judge Douglas R. Woodworth, who set their trial for May 21. The weapon they are accused of possessing was a AK47 machine gun used by Chinese armed forces.

According to arrest records, Cota turned the firearm over to a Los Angeles man for $1,000 owed in a drug deal.

'Convenience' Robbery is Third

The 7-11 convenience store at 2840 Bancroft may not have had this in mind when they started but it has become a convenient place to rob.

Three robberies during the past three months can be recollected. Last Thursday it suffered the third one.

A Mexican male entered the store at 10:45 p.m. and ordered a package of Kent 100's. He then tossed a plastic bag on the counter, put one hand in his coat pocket, and demanded the money.

Teresa Elaine DeChant, the clerk, complied. The robber escaped with approximately $50. As he rushed out he said "Thanks for the cigarettes" for which he neglected to pay.

Incumbents Returned To 4 School Boards

The school elections Tuesday favored the incumbents.

In four districts which cover Lemon Grove and Spring Valley all of those seeking re-election were successful.

In Lemon Grove's school district James Dorman and Henry Reinecke were re-elected.

In Spring Valley Melvin Nunn and William Thompson were re-elected to the La Mesa-Spring Valley board.

Robert Andreen and Kenneth Whitcomb were re-elected to the Grossmont Union High school board.

Dale Burke and Portia Goode were re-elected to the Grossmont Community College board.

In Lemon Grove Dorman and Reinecke overwhelmed Fred A. Anderson. The vote: Dorman 1,254, Reinecke 1,234, Anderson 439.

In La Mesa-Spring Valley: Nunn 4,701, Thompson 4,544. Two opponents drew less than 1,900 each.

Grossmont High School: Andreen 10,556, Whitcomb 10,460, Ed Wright 7,058, Clark 6,066. The rest drew less than 5,000 each.

Grossmont College: Goode 10,501, Burke 10,222, Mel Crain 7,451. The rest drew less than 5,000 each.

The totals are complete but unofficial.

All children at San Altos in grades three through six participated in a written test on bike safety rules. Bicycle rodeos are conducted with assistance by the California Highway Patrol to promote safe riding habits.

Girl Fails Test

A white, 15-year old Monte Vista High school girl, a passenger in a 1975 white Cadillac with two middle-aged black males, told sheriff's deputies she was forced into the car by the men under a threat of death.

Sheriff's men stopped the car at Jamacha blvd. and Sweetwater Springs rd. February 24.

The men denied the girl's allegation.

Police invited the three to take a lie detector test. The girl failed, officers said.

Pilot Solves Burglaries Of Two S.V. Churches

Ralph Martin McAulay, a PSA pilot, solved three church burglaries when he saw a youth entering the Lord of Life Lutheran church at 950 Luther Way, Friday about 2 p.m.

McAulay, a member of the church, checking the youth's presence, found another in the church office opening a desk drawer.

He grabbed both of them by the hair while his wife, Wileen called the sheriff. She then assisted her husband by kicking a knife from the hands of one would-be burglar.

Officers arrested two 15-year old youths for breaking and entering. They admitted that they had previously burglarized the Lutheran church as well as the Christian Church at 922 Grand ave., Spring Valley. They implicated still another 15-year old youth and the three led officers to a drainage ditch where church artifacts were recovered and to a cache in a field in the area where the other church items had been hidden.

The youths live in the Spring Valley area.

The 1975 Kiwanis theme is "Show You Kare."

Youthful Escape Artist Arrested in L.G. Burglary

A 17-year old Vista La Mesa youth was charged with burglary Friday after deputies of the Sheriff's Lemon Grove office trapped him at 2:30 a.m. in Stanley Andrews Sporting Goods store at 6941 Federal blvd., Lemon Grove.

He was found hiding under a counter after officers entered both front and rear doors and took from him knives and guns he had gathered during a burglary foray.

The youth entered the store, which was closed for the night, through a roof vent and traversed a false ceiling into the store proper. He had 14 knives and six handguns and ammunition when apprehended. A loaded automatic and a loaded .38 special were among the guns.

Pride in Ability

Police reports relate that the youth showed pride in his break-in ability and offered to show officers he could escape from the holding cell at the Lemon Grove station. He did while amazed officers watched!

He was handcuffed and put back in the cell. Then he offered to show his captors an easy way to get out of handcuffs.

Instead, he was transported to County Jail with an escape warning.

A tightened security exists now at Lemon Grove.

The youth will be arraigned this week in El Cajon Municipal Court.

Taking part in the capture was Deputies Ronald Cottingham, Robert Kerns and Sgt. Walter Patroske.

Tijerina's Comeback Test Is Friday's Fight Feature

Hard-punching Pacific Beach light heavyweight Carlos Tijerina will try to get back on the winning track at the Coliseum Friday night when he takes on veteran Ronnie Wilson in the 10 round main event.

The popular Tijerina, a stablemate of world ranked featherweight Art Hafey, ran off 11 straight victories (10 via knockout) in 1974 in addition to being named San Diego "Prospect of the Year." But young Carlos got derailed on January 17th, losing to ringwise Bobby Stewart on a unanimous points verdict.

"I believe all my earlier knockouts hurt me in that fight," noted Tijerina, who had never worked past the sixth round before meeting Stewart. "I didn't pace myself against Bobby and got real tired in the later rounds."

Whether Tijerina can bounce back and profit from his first taste of defeat will come to light against an established pro, who like Stewart, has a chin of granite.

In his most recent outing, Ronnie returned to the ring following a long layoff to easily decision colorful Dave "Cue Ball" Harmon.

Proboter Mickey Davies also indicated that on Friday, Mar. 14th, Irish Jimmy Heair will tune-up for a rematch with Mike Mayon by headlining the feature attraction. Also appearing on the same card will be lightweight sensation Rudy Hernandez, who sports a 15-0 slate as a pro.

Last Week

It was a beautiful comeback effort by Texas Jimmy Heair Friday night as he outboxed Gerardo Ferratt in the Coliseum's main event and knocked him out at a minute and five seconds of the fifth round.

Heair, who had been recognized as a championship contended in the lightweight division until last year when he suffered a series of defeats that followed an operation on his nose, dominated the ring as he had once been able to do.

Heair, 22 and 138, dropped Ferratt with a swinging right in the second round of the bout scheduled for 10. Referee Fred Hayes stopped the fight in the fifth when Ferratt was no longer able to defend himself.

Later this month Heair will meet Mike Mayon, a favorite in San Diego. Heair suffered a split-decision defeat at the hands of Mayon last year. If Heair displays the same ability in that fight as he did Friday, he will even the score with Mayon.

In a semi-main last week, Dave Pacheco, 127½, scored a decision over German Lopez.

Fights start at 8:15 each Friday.

After Sunday's race the action switches to night racing with a NASCAR Modified-Stock Car race on Saturday night, March 15, followed by a 40-lap USAC National Championship Midget race on Saturday evening March 22, staged by J. C. Agajanian.

43 Padres on Hand For Spring Training

The beginning of five weeks of moans and groans and aches and pains for members of the San Diego Padres began yesterday with the start of spring training at the Padres camp site in Yuma, Arizona.

The Padres, who were the latest starting club in the majors, opened with a general team meeting and workout.

Workout schedule for the first nine days leading up to the beginning of the exhibition contests will vary somewhat from day to day, but the sessions will generally get underway around 10 a.m.

Press Day will be Saturday and Sunday when media people will shoot pictures later to appear in newspapers and on television.

"To the man our coaching staff is anxious to get going," said second-year manager John McNamara. "We've got a few new thoughts in mind, what with a new pitching coach in Tom Morgan and a new batting instructor in Dick Sisler, and I am sure the players are as anxious to get started as we are."

The Padres opened camp with a 43-man roster which was highlighted by 22 pitchers fighting it out for just 10 spots on the roster.

Catcher will also be a highly competitive position with Fred Kendall, Chris Cannizzaro, Bob Davis and Randy Hundley vying for two berths.

The exhibition schedule will get underway next week. The Padres first assignment will be in Holtville on March 14 against the California Angels. The first contest scheduled Yuma will be March 15 with the Padres hosting the Cleveland Indians and new manager Frank Robinson.

Lacroix Carries Mariners As Season's End Nears

The World Hockey Association San Diego Mariners are making a late-season playoff bid carried on the shoulders of all-star center Andre Lacroix.

Currently locked in a battle with Minnesota and Phoenix for a second place finish in the WHA's Western Division, the San Diegans are finding that Lacroix is responding with his third consecutive 100-plus points hockey season.

The Mariners have three more home games in the current series after which they take to the road for three.

When the team returns on March 20, it will be one of the six final home games of the season.

With 19 appearances remaining in the 78-game regular season schedule, Lacroix has 101 points through 30 goals and 71 assists. He recently set a league mark with assists in 17 straight games and is currently on a consecutive game scoring streak that has reached 24, also a WHA standard.

Second Last Year

Lacroix came to WHA with Philedalphia when the loop was formed in 1972-73 and grabbed its initial scoring crown with 124 points. He finished second last year with 111 points while with Jersey.

His overall totals through almost three years of WHA activity include 111 goals and 2225 assists for 336 points. He is the league's all-time scoring leader, all-time assist maker and has never missed a game in his three years, having participated in 214 straight.

Lacroix has been named to the all-league team two consecutive times and appears to be a shoo-in for a third selection, has been a part on each of the WHA's all-star contests and was a member of the WHA Team Canada squad that competed against Russia last fall.

Lacroix centers a San Diego line that has wingers Wayne Rivers and Rick Sentes, a line that has accounted for 98 goals and 229 points.

S.D. High Outduels Mats In CIF Basketball Final

San Diego High's domination of the '75 SDCIF basketball season climaxed last Saturday night when they defeated the Mt. Miguel Matadors, 102-72 for the CIF crown.

The Cavers seemingly could do no wrong as they shot an amazing 51% and controlled the boards 42-24.

The game was close throughout the first quarter, which ended 23-21 with San Diego leading. But though that was the highest scoring period for the Matadors, it proved their undoing, as Ruben Ray and Bob Baxter each picked up three fouls. By intermission Ray had four and the Cavers led, 47-36.

After that it was all downhill for the Mats' as San Diego's lead increased to as much as 83 at one point.

Percy Gilbert was high scorer with 31 points, 19 coming in the second half. Gilbert was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player. Ray was leading Matador scorer with 18 points before he fouled out at 5:52 of the third period. LaVerle Parker was close behind with 17.

The game marked the end of Mt. Miguel's most successful campaign since the 1968 season, and five Matadors have earned post-season honors. Ray, Baxter, Parker, and Jeff Lange all were named to Grossmont District's All-League teams, while Chris Landry was given Honorable Mention.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

Like it or not, coaches are teachers and as such, by and large, are just like thee and me. Some good, some not so good, some pretty bad. Some give of themselves, others just take.

Probably the smallest group of the lot are the dedicated, creative, imaginative educator who strikes the spark of curiosity in the minds of their charges and fan the flame into an inferno that consumes the thoughts and ideas that is man's knowledge.

The subjects of such teachers is really irrelevant. It's their ability to get it across. But the truth of the matter is, athletic coaches reach their students with this magic more than other mentors, who generally have to fight the dryness of their subject side-by-side with the undisciplined clods who fill their class.

It's when a coach is blessed with the special gifts of the dedicated educator that youth is privileged to find his class.

And such a privilege is in the wind for some 70 San Diego youngsters lucky enough to survive the trials and earn selection to the Youth Athletic Team headed for Hawaii, Japan and the Peoples' Republic of China this summer.

In case you hadn't heard, some 70 teenage track and field and baseball stars will represent San Diego County in the Far East through the month of July. Details of the China visit are still to be worked out, but if things go according to plan, San Diego youngsters will be the first Americans to bring a county sized, you and me level, sports challenge to the people of China.

And it certainly seems fitting that Larry Elliot would be one of the coaches selected to head such a venture.

Larry spent 12 years in professional baseball before he took up his teaching trade. He may be the the first man ever to study and work himself right out of the National League.

It went something like this. Larry was up with the New York Mets from '64 through '66 and was invited to spring training for '67, but he was close to graduation at San Diego State and asked the Mets to let him finish and play in San Diego.

He stayed in school and played for the (then) minor league Padres when they were home and went to class when they were on the road.

The Mets, of course, couldn't understand how a player could turn down a major league berth just to complete his college work and Elliot was "allowed" to leave baseball soon thereafter.

Larry knew he was choosing a teaching over a baseball career when he elected to stay in school. He has a habit of laying values on things and then making them stand up. It's something his Madison High players learn.

And he is typical of the coaches assigned to train and teach San Diego youngsters getting ready to show American spirit and skill in the Far East.

Joe Brooks (El Capitan) heads up a track staff that includes Ron Vavre (Grossmont College), Wayne Layton (El Cajon) and Ed Teagle (Bonita Vista). When you write "teacher" behind their names, you use a Capital T.

There will be open tryouts and meets for those trying to make the San Diego Youth Team traveling squad. And all hopefuls have to help raise the money for the trip. One way is a sponsored walk. All of them, nearly 1,000 youngsters, will hike some 21 miles around Mission Bay Sunday. And they all need sponsors. How 'bout helping?

You back your walker with a nickel or a dime per mile, what ever fits your pocketbook. And it's worth every penny. Think of it. Showing the flag and our own kids' friendly faces in Japan and China. Maybe, if we send enough kids with bats and balls and track shoes, we won't ever have to send other youngsters with rifles.

Call Youth Team Director Mike Murray at 753-5019 or any of the coaches mentioned above. They know who needs sponsor backing. Help yourself and a San Diego youngster get a helluvan education. It's his future. And isn't that what our future is all about?

Hall of Champs Banquet Backdrop for Naming Mix

Ron Mix, an all-league tackle for nine years during his brilliant career with the San Diego Chargers, and Evelyn Boldrick Howard, rated among the finest women badminton players in history, have been named to the San Diego Sports Hall of Fame.

Their selection was announced by Anderson Borthwick, president of the Hall of Champions, who said Mix topped the balloting among current nominees, while Mrs. Howard led the voting for senior candidates.

Both will be inducted into the Hall of Fame at the Banquet of Champions Monday, March 10 at the Town and Country Convention Center as the highlight of the 29th annual civic event during which numerous other athletes and sports personalities also will be honored.

Although the No. 1 draft of the National Football League Baltimore Colts after a brilliant collegiate career at UCLA, Mix chose to sign with the San Diego Chargers and, as an offensive tackle, he made the AFL All-League team annually from 1960 through 1968. In the latter season he also was picked to the AFL-NFL All-League lineup.

Studied Law

During off-seasons he completed law school, and he also has written articles for various major magazines. In the Hall of Fame he will join such other San Diego football greats as Bill McColl, Russ Saunders, Lance Alworth, Harold "Brick" Muller and Irvine "Cotton" Warburton.

A native of San Diego, Mrs. Howard attended San Diego High and San Diego State, and as an active player she dominated the women's badminton scene in the early 1940s, winning the United States singles title twice and the doubles crown on one occasion. She also accounted for numerous sectional championships in California and in Massachusetts where she now makes her home and serve as a member of the physical education staff at Boston-Bouve College.

Only one other badminton player to be voted into the San Diego Hall of Fame is Dr. David Freeman, generally considered the greatest player in the history of the game.

Mix and Mrs. Howard were preceded into the Hall of Fame by footballer Leo Calland and archer Rube Powell, who led the balloting in their respective age brackets last year.

Tickets for the Banquet of Champions are priced at $10, and reservations can be made by calling the San Diego Hall of Champions 234-2544.

Rest Readies Aztecs For NCAA Game

San Diego State's basketball team will have only a week more to prepare for its first ever NCAA University Division playoff game scheduled for March 15 in Tempe, Arizona.

The Aztec opponent on that day will be a strong Nevada (Las Vegas) team and the site will be the Arizona State Activities Center.

The Aztecs enter the playoffs by virtue of finishing second in the Pacific Coast Athletic Assn. race behind Long Beach State. Long Beach is on the second of a three year NCAA probation. San Diego finished the regular season with a 14-12 overall mark and was 6-4 in the conference. Long Beach finished 8-2 with Fresno State third at 5-5, Fullerton State fourth at 4-6 and Pacific and San Jose finishing 3-7.

Last week the Aztecs beat crosstown rival USD 84-61, but lost a pair of conference games to Long Beach State 97-74 and Fresno State 68-64.

"In practice this week we hope to generate the enthusiasm that we had for our games for San Jose State and Long Beach State here, Vezie said. "The team was sky high for those games and the results are evident. We are a very good basketball team when we are intense and play with emotion."

Las Vegas finished its West Coast Athletic Conference season with a 13-1 record and are 22-4 for the season.

The Vegas Rebels won all 14 games played at home and were 7-4 on the road while San Diego State was 9-5 at home and 5-7 on the road. All nine of the home wins, however, came in Peterson Gym and all five losses were at the San Diego Sports Arena, the site of the NCAA Basketball Finals this year.

Hoop Agony Ending

Seven home games are left on the Conquistadors schedule —and then it's over.

The agony of a disappointing season; the despair of small attendance, and the futility of trying to get a star center, with a two million dollar contract in his pocket, to play half-way professional ball.

On Friday the Indiana Pacers will meet the Q's in an 8 p.m. game. The Memphis Sounds come Sunday for a 7 p.m. encounter. Both games are at the Arena.

Last Sunday night (March 2), the Conquistadors fell to the Denver Nuggets 133-117. However, over 8,000 fans (8,330) turned out to see the game and a post-game rock concert featuring Dave Mason and Canned Heat. The crowd was the largest of the season and also the best in the three year history of the franchise.

San Diego has 8 home games and 8 road contests remaining on the 1974-75 schedule. Five of those home dates will be on Wednesday. The other three contests will be played on a Friday, Saturday and Sunday. There will be a home game at the Sports Arena every Wednesday during the month of March and the first Wednesday in April.

Caliente Grounds Careless Riders

TIJUANA — Cracking down on careless riding by some members of the Caliente jockey corps, stewards today set down three riders for six days each for infractions over the weekend.

Included on the list of suspensions was the track's leading rider, Ramon Flores, who was found guilty of careless riding in the 10th race stretch drive, causing his mount, Mario A., to be disqualified from first place to second.

Also suspended for six days for careless riding in the stretch, were apprentice jockeys Ramiro DeAnda and Enrique Contreras.

Flores continues to be the track's leading rider with 25 wins, nine more than his closest rival, apprentice Enrique Munoz.

Agua Caliente enjoyed its best weekend since the track opened May 4, 1974, when a total of $947,952 was pumped through the mutuel machines on the horses over the weekend.

Aztecs Pick Shafer For Defensive Coach

Steve Shafer, the former head football coach at College of San Mateo, has been added to the San Diego State University football coaching staff where he will be in charge of the defensive line.

Shafer, 34, followed current Aztec quarterback and receiver coach Ted Tollner as head coach at San Mateo. In his two seasons as head man, Shafer has compiled an impressive 15-6-1 record, including an 8-3-1 year in 1973 and 7-3 last season. San Mateo won the Golden Gate Conference title in 1973 and was second last season.

As an assistant at San Mateo he coached the defensive backfield, the wide receivers and was defensive co-ordinator. His defensive unit finished No. 1 in the Golden Gate Conference in 1970 and 1971 and was No. 2 in 1968 and 1969.

Shafer was an outstanding athlete, playing at College of the Sequoias, Utah State and the B.C. Lions as a defensive back. At College of the Sequoias he was the team's Most Valuable Player in 1959 and team captain in 1960.

He was drafted by the San Francisco 49ers out of college but elected to play professional football with the British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League. He spent four years in Canada in which he played on the Western Conference Championship team in 1963 and on the Canadian Grey Cup Champions in 1964. The Grey Cup is Canada's equivalent of the NFL's Super Bowl.

In College Shafer played with California assistant coach Bill Dickey and under John Ralston at Utah State.

"We're very happy to get a guy of Steve Shafer's caliber," said Aztec head coach Claude Gilbert. "He is very knowledgable about the game and has tremendous experience in both college and professional football. Steve is exactly the type of guy we were looking for to round out our coaching staff.

Fruit Flies Continue As Growers' Nemesis

The San Diego quarantine to prevent the spread of the oriental fruit fly continues.

The bug poses a serious threat to the agricultural industry, especially in California. It was discovered in larval form in the United States for the first time in a residential area of San Diego last fall.

The oriental fruit fly attacks citrus fruits, avocados, tomatoes and other fruits and vegetables, making it especially dangerous to Southern California agriculture.

Officials from the Department of Agriculture explain that the female fly stings fruit with 1,400 to 3,000 eggs during her 13-day life cycle. In a short time her family could grow to millions.

The fly is about three-fourths the size of a common house fly, but are a more colorful bright-orange.

Bait traps have been placed throughout the quarantine area which was expanded from 90 to 250 square miles this year. The area encompasses most of metropolitan San Diego and involves 260 nurseries, 600 retail grocery stores, 18 wholesalers, 70 post offices and shipping terminals and 800 growers, according to agriculture officials.

Under the quarantine, avocados, citrus, vegetables and host plants must be fumigated before they can be certified and released for shipment.

Time is Right To Sign Up For Medicare

People who didn't sign up for Medicare medical insurance when they first became eligible or who have cancelled the protection once can enroll now through March 31 at any social security office, according to Louise Miner, social security branch manager in La Mesa.

Medicare medical insurance is offered automatically to people who reach 65 and are eligible for social security benefits — and to disabled people under 65 who have been entitled to monthly social security disability benefits for 24 consecutive month or more. Nine out of 10 people eligible are enrolled in the program, according to Ms. Miner.

"But some people decline the protection when they're first eligible," she said. "And some sign up once and cancel later. They can enroll in the first 3 months of any year."

The medical insurance helps pay doctor bills and other medical expenses and is the voluntary part of Medicare, funded by individual premiums and Federal general revenues. The basic premium is $6.70 a month.

Cocktail Gathering To Fete Top Demos

Senate President pro tempore James R. Mills of San Diego will serve as master of ceremonies at a gala cocktail gathering at the Hilton Inn on March 14. Presidential aspirants Morris Udall, D-Arizona and Fred R. Harris, D-Oklahoma are among the featured guests who will participate in the $25-a-person cocktail party 5-8 p.m.

Others who have been invited include all potential Democratic candidates for president.

Mills said profits from the event will be put toward a San Diego County Democratic voter registration effort. He predicted that a strong registration campaign "will put San Diego County into the Democratic column in 1976."

Joint Sponsorship

Rita Luftig, chairperson of the San Diego County Democratic Central Committee, said the cocktail party is being jointly sponsored by the county committee and the San Diego office of the Democratic State Central Committee. Co-hosting the event with Mrs. Luftig are Sue Reno and Paula Siegel.

Honorary co-chairmen of the event are Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego; R. R. Richardson, secretary-treasurer of San Diego and Imperial Counties Federation of Labor; California Democratic Party Chairman Charles Manatt; and Southern California Democratic Party Chairman Dick O'Neill.

Other guests will be Democratic Assemblymen Peter R. Chacon, Wadie P. Deddeh, Larry Kapiloff, Tom Suitt and Bob Wilson.

Restrictive Laws Raise Home Prices

At today's prices, how can new and adequate housing for low and moderate income families be provided?

That problem now becomes more acute as the San Diego County Planning Commission is considering inclusion in the General Plan a regulation which will require builders and developers to provide in all new unincorporated area subdivisions a substantial percentage of housing that moderate income families can afford.

A state law enacted in 1969 mandates that all cities and counties prepare as part of their General Plan "a housing element . . . with adequate provision for the housing needs of all economic segments of the community."

This restrictive provision is included in the county's "Housing Element," the first draft of which has been completed by the County Planning Department after nine months of work under the direction of the county Environmental Development Agency and in cooperation with the Housing Subcommittee of the Citizens' Committee on the General Plan.

As currently written, the regulation requires "all residential developments of 50 units or 50 acres or more in the unincorporated area of the county to provide not more than 40 per cent and not less than 15 per cent of all housing in the development for moderate income families."

Development Stops

This provision, unless modified, could effectively stop further residential development, according to Scott Harvey, legislative director for the San Diego Building Contractors Assn. (BCA), who with others has made an intensive study of the "Housing Element" draft.

"The building industry has been striving for ways to provide housing that low and moderate income families can afford, and has made some strides in that direction," Harvey said, "but increased building costs, high interest rates, rising land development expenses, newly added fees, longer processing time, plus the added burdens of restrictive policies during the last two years have more than wiped out any gains.

"There is just no way a private builder under existing circumstances can produce an adequate house for under $30,000 and probably not under $35,000, and that price is beyond the reach of so-called moderate incomes."

The current formula defines low incomes as under $5,000 a year and moderate incomes under $10,000 annually.

Even though these standards may be raised in view of inflation and the trend toward higher incomes, Harvey said "families with incomes of $15,000 to $16,000 a year cannot qualify for a $35,000 home unless they have substantial down payments, which most of them do not have."

$300 a Month

In today's mortgage market, Harvey pointed out that a 30-year $35,000 loan at 9½ per cent interest would require monthly payments of nearly $300, covering only premium and interest. Taxes and insurance would hike this payment to well more than $400 a month, and under most financing practices, it would require a family income of $1,600 a month or more to qualify for a loan this large.

There is, however, a possible partial solution to the predicament. That is subsidy in some form. "In recent years," said Harvey, "we have found that subsidy programs have provided the only way to make housing available for the poor, and that has been for limited numbers, far too short to meet the real need."

But that may be a way out of this dilemma, he said.

In a submission to the County Planning Commission, Harvey noted that "since low and moderate income housing must rely on government subsidies, the private housing industry would be placed in a dependent position which would have no necessary relationship to market demands or economic feasibility."

So he suggested that such a policy statement include the wording . . . depending upon the availability of required government subsidy funds. Otherwise he said that "noble sounding policy statements may function only to stop further residential development."

The first hearing on the "Housing Element" draft has been held. The document now goes back to the planning department for review and possible revision. When completed, a second hearing will be called after which the draft will be submitted to the Board of Supervisors for final action.

Tests Readied For Medical Technicians

A test will be offered in May for persons who wish to be certified as Emergency Medical Technicians (EMT) in the State of California.

The tests are for those who are not presently certified whether they are now working in the profession or not.

On July 1, even those already employed must be certificated.

Those seeking jobs as an ambulance attendant or as a member of an emergency medical response unit are much more likely to find one if already certificated instead of having to go through a training program to qualify for the job, Karen Butler, health information specialist for the County, said.

The County does not have jobs available, Butler said. It provides the applications only.

The County's Office of Emergency Medical Services said tests will be given to those persons who can show evidence of one of the following:

1) Work experience as an ambulance attendant or member of another emergency medical response unit for one or more years;

2) Completion of an out-of-state EMT training program, or;

3) Completion of an emergency medical service related training program of the U. S. Armed Forces.

Written Exam

The test is in lieu of completing an EMT course. If proof of eligibility is shown, the individual will be required to successfully complete a written examination. Those individuals who pass the test will then be required to demonstrate their practical skills, such as cardiopulmonary resuscitation, bandaging, splinting, etc.

Interested persons may pick up an application form weekdays from 8 to 5 at the Information Desk, County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway in San Diego.

Those wishing an application to be mailed to them should send a request and a self-addressed envelope to Emergency Medical Services, 1600 Pacific Highway, 7th floor (A222), San Diego, Calif. 92101.

The Office of Emergency Medical Services can be reached at 236-3068.

Belt-Tightening Should be Equal, CTA's West Says

While Kirk West, executive vice president of the California Taxpayers' Association, believes in the Governor's philosophy of belt tightening for government, he thinks local governments, particularly schools, have had to bear an unproportional amount of the austerity.

"State government is not being asked to tighten its belt the same number of notches as California's public schools," West said. "Governor Brown has proposed an 8.5% pay increase for state employees for 1975-6. School district employees, under tax limitations established in 1972, will average far less than half that increase. Some districts are laying off employees," West said.

West thinks the governor should reduce the pay offer to state employees to equalize pay increases at the local level.

Outdoorsman

The Consumer Product Safety Commission said 6,000 persons were treated last year for injuries involving charcoal grills. Burns represented 83 per cent.

Lakeside Project in Valle de Oro Area

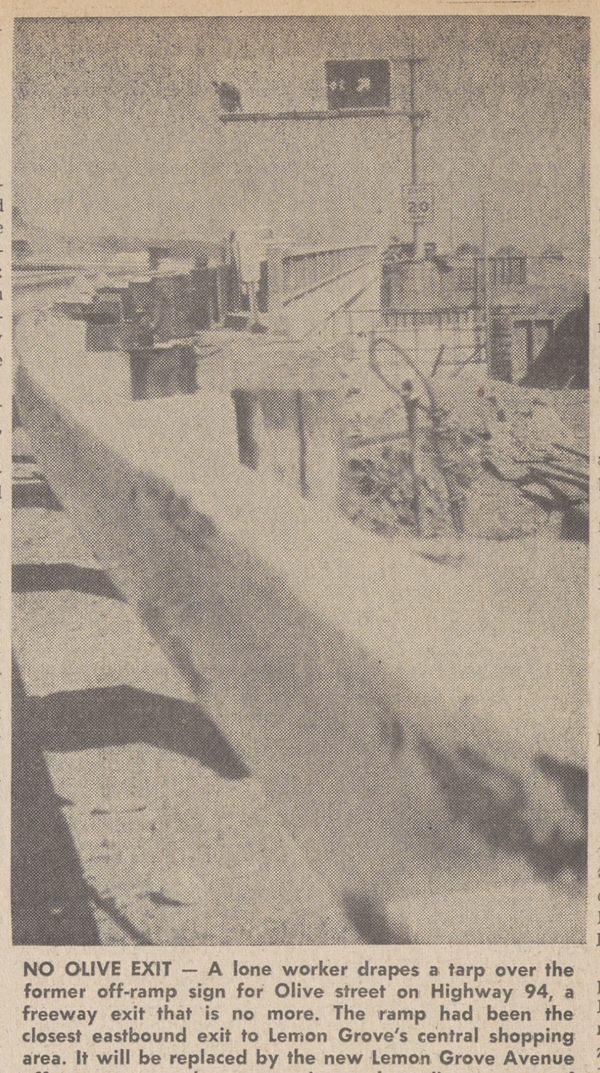
Draft environment impact reports (EIR) for a subdivision, a borrow pit, and a revised project description for the Lakeside Community Plan have been received by the County of San Diego.

The first project is known as Maderia Downs, and involves the subdivision of a 189-acre parcel into 221 one-half acre lots. The property is located two miles northeast of Casa de Oro bounded by Vista Grande and Hillside roads. EIR spokesmen said the project is in the Valle de Oro planning area.



NO OLIVE EXIT — A lone worker drapes a tarp over the former off-ramp sign for Olive street on Highway 94, a freeway exit that is no more. The ramp had been the closest eastbound exit to Lemon Grove's central shopping area. It will be replaced by the new Lemon Grove Avenue off-ramp now under construction a short distance east of the site.

Tried-and-True Transit Will Prove Best – Mills

Senate President pro-tempore James R. Mills said advanced technologies like BART in San Francisco or small community based concepts such as dial-a-ride or minibuses is the answer to public transit development.

He made the statement in an address to the Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG) last week.

A fixed railway system built one increment at the time in heavily travelled corridors, using existing rights-of-way where possible and existing local, state and federal funds, is the answer.

"We can no longer afford to be seduced by untried, expensive technologies. We need proven, off-the-shelf systems like San Francisco's Municipal Railway or the pre-metro systems of the East Coast and Europe.

Old Red Car

"Ironically, the Los Angeles area once had such systems," Mills said. "For example, there was the old Red Car, for which some of the rights-of way still exist. Also, he said, "we have railroad rights-of-way, which can be put to double duty for inter-urban transit purposes."

Mills, who is the author of Senate Bill 325, which provides state subsidies to bus companies, said it is possible to get started immediately on some new fixed rail systems that would not impose any added burden on local taxpayers.

He said there is a combination of state and federal funds available that, matched with local funds, can go a long way toward developing the light rail systems needed in urban areas.

"The concept of trying to get the taxpayers to approve huge 70-80 mile systems, costing billions of dollars, is extravagant," Mills said.

"In today's economy we must use funds we already have, building new systems one increment at a time using tried and true equipment. Otherwise, if we hold out for space-age computerized, highly expensive systems, we'll never get started," he said.

RC Storage Yard Built

Rancho San Diego is nearing completion of the first phase of a planned 4.4 acre storage yard for recreational vehicles, according to Frank Parks, Vice-President and General Manager of Rancho San Diego.

Built at a cost of $165,000, this first phase will provide storage for 147 recreational vehicles or trailered boats. The yard will be equipped with asphalt surfacing, 24 hour lighting, a screened chain-link fence, electrical outlets, a wash pad and sanitary disposal facility.

Access will be paved streets to 10786 U.S. Elevator rd.

The 147 unit Phase One is now ready for leasing.

Zoo Hours Extended

The San Diego Zoo and the Wild Animal Park switched to spring schedules Saturday.

The Zoo and the Park now stay open one hour later. Gates at both institutions close at 5 p.m. Visitors may remain on the grounds until 6 p.m. Opening time for both the Zoo and the Park is at 9 a.m.

Auto Repair Advertising A Service or Ripoff?

Many automobile owners are being misled by advertising that promises a repair service that they often will not receive for the quoted price.

"Truth in advertising auto repair services is not always the rule," says C. Dale Crill, president of the Automotive Service Council of California. (ASC)

"The consumer should be aware of certain advertising practices which are misleading," Crill stated. He listed six frequent kinds of ads.

1) Quality and Service Not Available —

Advertising often guarantees a quality and service that is beyond the shops capability and the work is sent out and not actually performed on the premises.

2) Performance and Service as Advertised —

Some advertisements specify a service at a discount rate; like wheel alignment for instance. The intent often is to sell the customer replacement parts in addition to the alignment. The price is used as bait to draw the customer in. Once there, he is an easy target for additional salesmanship.

3) Advertising Services not Normally Performed —

A garage that specializes in selling and installing rebuilt engines may advertise special prices on ring and valve jobs to draw customers, then try to sell a rebuilt engine instead.

4) Quality of Merchandise —

To do a job for the advertised low price, replacement parts of inferior or sub-standard quality may be used, but this information is not given in the advertisement.

5) Quantity of Merchandise on Hand —

Advertisements that sell items at a discount rate may not state how many or for what car are available. When the customer comes to buy, he is told that they only had ten left and they were sold that morning. He then is offered a more expensive item.

6) Reduction Sales —

The "buy one, get one free" ad may sound like a bargain. But the motorist may find he is paying for two in the price of one.

If an ad offers one of the types of services described the consumer may be saving himself time and money by calling the establishment and getting verbal verification that the service can be performed on his particular auto for the stated price. If an auto repair facility is unwilling to discuss an advertisement over the phone, the consumer should think twice about taking his car there for servicing, Crill suggests.

Stereo Loot is $800

Youths Implicated in Spring Valley Burglaries

A Spring Valley mother became suspicious when she discovered some stop watches and other items in the possession of her 16-year old son.

When sheriff's deputies investigated they unlocked a string of at least five more burglaries involving the youth.

The 16-year old lad implicated a 15-year old one and together they confessed to burglaries dating back to last fall.

They confessed to burglaries in Spring Valley on Cornwall, Brampton, Wolbollen, and Dorchester streets.

William H. Winchell, of Dorchester st., Spring Valley had reported a few days earlier the theft of $225 worth of tools from his truck parked in the driveway of his dwelling.

The two youngsters had them.

Stolen Gun Returned by Sheriff's Men

Henry Hugh Radcliffe, of 9685 Osage st., Spring Valley, recovered his .22 calibre rifle last week in a round-about way.

It started when Jeffry Frank Dunn, 19, of 699 Clamath st., Spring Valley, traded his "black light" outfit to a neighboring 14-year old boy for the rifle.

The youngster told Dunn, a couple of weeks later that the gun was "hot." Dunn reported it to the sheriff's department. They checked the burglary records and found it had been stolen from Radcliffe. The 14-year old youth was charged with burglary and Radcliffe has his gun back.

Bates Takes Health Post

Supervisor Jim Bates has become the first Supervisor in five years to fill the county's official position on the powerful Comprehensive Health Advisory Board.

Bates announced plans to make the county's immediate links with that association "dynamic and comprehensive."

Officials of CHPA, which is the official health planning organization for this county, called the appointment of the Board much overdue and a "great step toward more health cooperation between the community, doctors, hospitals and county government.

The CHPA said Bates is the first supervisor to hold the seat since Henry Boney held it in 1970. "We have come to the board each year and asked for an appointment to fill the position," said Richard Jacobsen, executive director of the organization. "But there has been no response."

Bates, also a member of the Mental Health Advisory Board, took office in January.
